

Information on group work

Since 19th March the forum www.its-our-Europe.eu is online.

Nearly all participating groups have presented their topic in the forum since then.

Now we are really getting started!

In the following you will find important information about the work in the forum:

1. Language

Three languages can be used in the forum: German, English and French. The groups and the participants themselves can decide which language they wish to use. If you don't understand a certain post, just ask for translation help directly in the forum. Another participants or the project team will help you quickly.

2. Weekly journal

Once a week your group posts a short text on the status quo of your group work: the weekly journal. A participant of your group describes in two to three sentences (or more if you like) how your project is proceeding, what question you are currently working at, if you have an idea, a question or if you noticed a problem. You are also welcome to post pictures of your group work.

Technical advice

The weekly journal should be posted in the thread of your topic. Click on the blue button "Discussion " and then on your topic. Click "answer" to send a post and choose the button "Weekly journal": The post will be framed and marked as "Weekly journal"

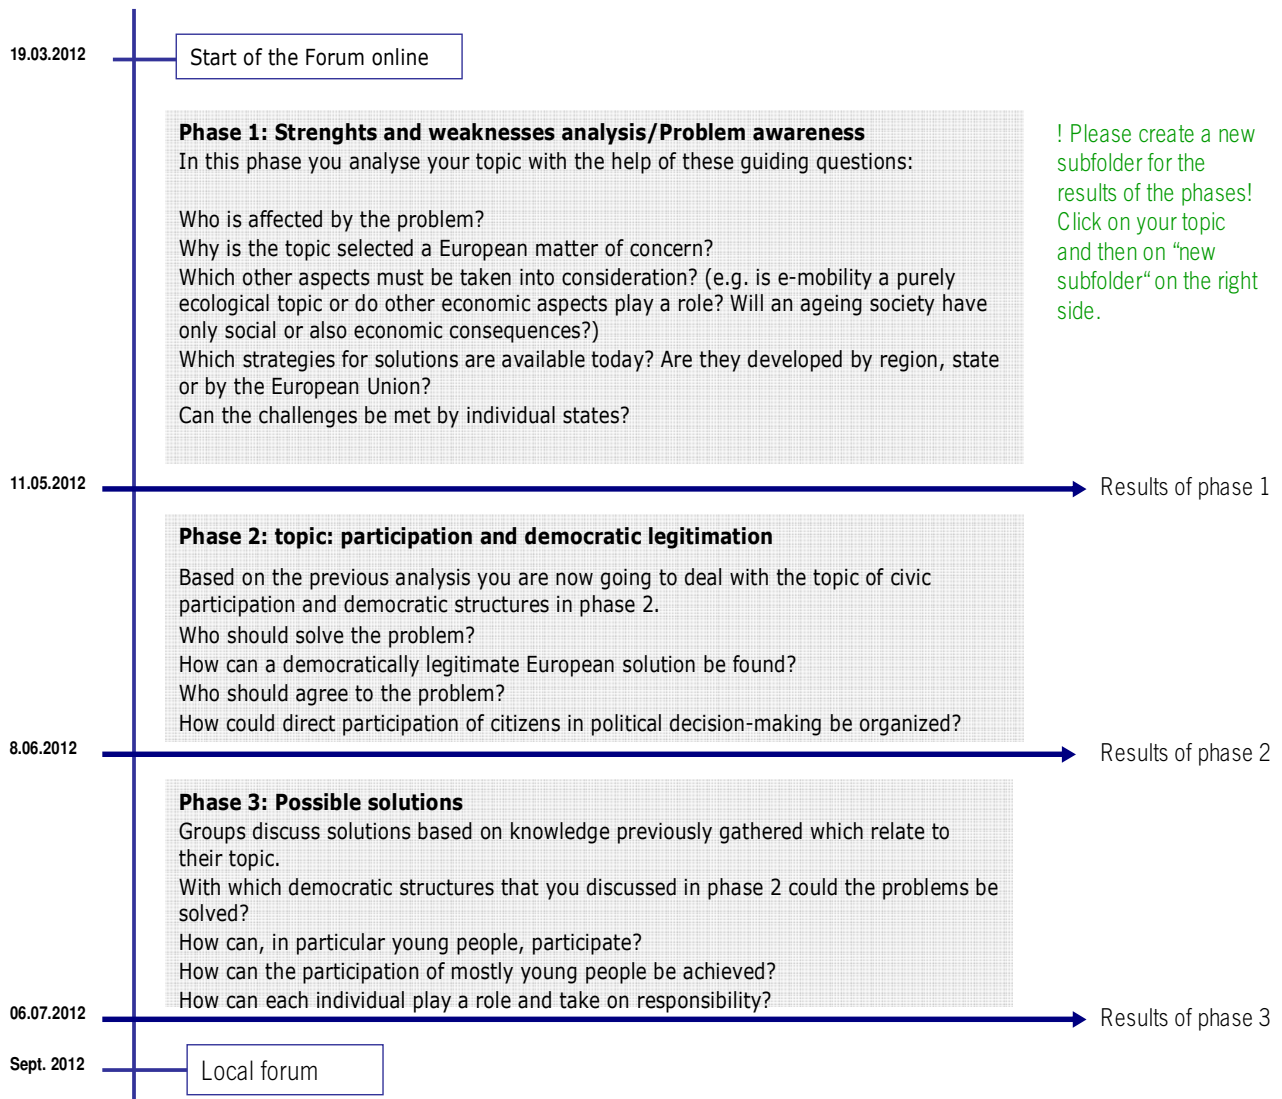

3. Three work phases

The work in the forum is divided in three phases. At the end of each phase your group posts a report in the forum. In your report you are answering the guiding questions of the respective phase. Size: max. two pages. You are also welcome to post a Power point presentation or a poster.

Technical advice:

Please create a new subfolder for the results of the three phases. Click on your topic and on "new subfolder" on the right side. Please name the subfolder "results of phase 1" (or "results of phase 2", "results of phase 3").
